MILLMEN ASK CONFERENCE

Present Their Reasons for Requesting Owners to Meet Them in Attempt to Settle Strike.

The strike of the mill employes in Salt Lake is still unsettled. The mill owners say they are operating with non-union men. The prospect of a settlement seems anything but near at hand.

The striking men want a conference with the employers and this they say 'I have talked with several of the mill owners, and they say if their secretary calls a conference they will attend. Their secretary refuses to do this, saying there is nothing to call a conference for. The public has been misled by the statements made to the effect that if the mill owners operated under the closed system, we would immediately ask for an increase in and Arthur Sullivan was elected treasurer.

The attendance at the meeting included all the members who could possibly come. John P. Fanning received a number of letters of regret from members outside of the city, all of them expressive of the attachment to the institution and the receiver of the writers.

"We are asking for a closed shop for three reasons. First, because the mill owners were putting union men on out-side work at lower wages than they would have received inside and at lower wages than the non-union men were get-ting; second, they were making union men have a closed shop to protect ourselves.'

The fifteen switchmen employed nights in the freight yards of the Oregon Short Line, who quit work Saturday night, attempted to secure a hearing with the officials of the road yesterday morning, but the men say they could obtain no satisfaction. According to the men, the trouble was due to the fact that they objected to working twelve hours and get paid for only eleven hours. Although some of the men belong to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, their refusal to continue work cannot be termed a strike of the union. The matter will not be taken up by any labor organization, it The men simply became dissatisfied with their working conditions and quit. For curative power in all stomach troubles, nothing else is as safe yet effective, nothing else can be thoroughly relied upon to relieve all troubles from indigestion as Mi-o-na. It is unlike any remedy heretofore known and is really one of the valuable disoveries in modern medical science. It is not the acute attacks that influence the insurance examiners alone, but the constant feelings of weakness, headaches, indigestion and stomach troubles-these things, physicians say, kill more people than many more serious diseases. To escape this condition of ill health, to enjoy one's food and yet never suffer with indigestion, a person should use Mi-o-na stomach tablets. He explained this by giving the statistics of the dispensary system of South Carolina and the license system of othe states, as compared with the showing made under Prohibition rule. He showed how, under Prohibition rule a child is brought up to consider and believe that a saloon keeper or liquor merchant is a criminal that a great gain is made.
